Corporations cannot commit treason, nor be outlawed or excommunicated, for they have no souls.—Sir Edward Coke, (1549-1634).

Words are the only things that last forever.—A. C. McClurg.

SOME UNDIGNIFIED REMARKS

Director-general Dougherty's call for the Carnival Spirit to rule Honolulu for the next few days is echoed by every loyal citizen of Hawaii.

Why not cut loose and have a good time? Why not drop false dignity and pride, all ye high-brows, and mingle with us low-brows and the middle-brows in one general jollification. Can we do it? Sure we can.

The Carnival Spirit is about the easiest thing to get in this world of sorrow, strife, income-taxes and poor roads. It doesn't cost anything. You can assimilate it without money and absorb it without price. Smiles are gratis, leis are cheap, Carnival canes and pennants are to be sold for a song—and it doesn't have to be much of a song at that.

Tomorrow afternoon that grand old American sport, which has followed the flag around the world and is civilizing even presidents, bankers and owners of limousines,—that grand old sport baseball,—will open the big show. Tomorrow night there is to be a grand Carnival of Nations at the palace grounds, where Hawaii's wonderful cosmopolitanism will show all nations mingling as one—Republicans, Democrats and Bull Moosers fraternizing right jolly.

Lock dull care up in the burglar-proof safe and forget the combination! King Carnival is ready to step on the throne and greet his subjects from all over the world.

THE "RADIUM CURE" IMPROVED

Recent cases of cancer treated by the radium method have attracted world-wide attention, and the publication yesterday of the fact that a grain of this precious substance had been ordered by Honolulu physicians for the treatment of a Honolulu woman now arouses much local interest. Yet it should be said now that the radium treatment is far from being a proved success. Even those experts who hope most from it make no hard-and-fast predictions.

From time to time extravagant claims are put forth for the merits of certain cures for ravaging diseases. So it was with the alleged tuberculosis cure advertised widely a year ago when Dr. F. F. Friedmann of Berlin announced the discovery and perfection of a new treatment. In at least one case a resident of Honolulu went to New York for treatment, only to meet with bitter disappointment. Thousands upon thousands of victims of the white plague, who had taken hope when the Friedmann treatment was announced, relapsed into blackest despair a few months later when the Berlin physician was stripped of his pretensions claims.

The study of radium as a possible cure for cancer has developed but a comparatively small body of definite knowledge. The "radium cure" is still in an experimental stage and its use in the treatment of internal cancer results fatally in a large percentage of cases, according to testimony recently given before the house mines committee by Dr. William H. Campbell, director of the radium clinic of Pennsylvania. Dr. Campbell told the committee that so far as the deeper caners are concerned "we cannot tell today what the outcome of the radium treatment will be."

"We can tell," he said, "that there is a disappearance of tumor; that the radium causes the disintegration of the tissues of the cancer, but something is created in that disappearance which is absorbed by the blood and which kills my patients. I cannot tell, nobody can tell, for four or five years, just what the result will be. I can treat patients at 4 cents per milligram of radium per hour, on an investment of $3000, and double my money in a year."

He was asked how many of his patients had died as a result of the treatment and after some hesitation answered that two out of five cases ended fatally. These two cases, he insisted, were already far advanced.

It is well, then, for the world not to put too much confidence in the radium treatment. It promises well, many skilled scientists have considerable faith in its efficacy, but it is still unproved.

One of the things that should not be missed during Carnival Week is the hibiscus, palm and fern exhibit to be held in the national guard armory next Wednesday afternoon. Even the common varieties of hibiscus are beautiful and at this show will be displayed rare and gorgeous specimens of bewildering form and color. Among the palms and ferns will be seen some private collections that are priceless.

Uncle Joe Cannon complains that President Wilson breaks too many precedents. Uncle Joe is one of the boys who find it hard to get used to the new way of doing public business.

"Yellow and dark-green—not light-green—is the proper and beautiful combination," observes a Carnival official with an artistic eye.

If they label the booze bottles "poison" there is a good chance that somebody will get hold of the carbolic acid bottle by mistake.

The Tampico water supply has been cut off by the rebels. Now if it had been mesal, we might expect a speedy surrender.

The new civil service commission is entirely civil. It has still to prove whether or not it is of service. It has started well.

Right now seems to be the psychological moment to agitate for a safe, sane and profitable Carnival.

Now, if our climate doesn't slip a cog for the next few days—

Meanwhile, what about Hawaii's exposition building?

pay all arrear taxes before getting a license, he said he would issue an order to arrest all drivers doing business without a license. But until the decision is handed down, he declared he would let things take their course. Holt said he did not take it to be his affair to inquire whether a driver had or had not a license; that he was only concerned in giving them permits. However, hack men say that he forced some to get a license before giving them a permit, and that in the case of Long he took the matter with the sheriff and that the sheriff told him to give Long a permit and do nothing about the latter's lack of a license.

LITTLE INTERVIEWS

—WILLIAM L. FRAZEE: The light along Kalakaua avenue will be on in a day or two. It will make the avenue look like a real boulevard.

—SUPERVISOR PETRIE: "We might as well put the prisoners to work in the quarry. As our lease is short there, the more rock we get out the more money the county saves."

—CHARLES A. COTTRILL: I have heard many addresses on Abraham Lincoln, but the one delivered by Chaplain Oscar Scott at the Y. M. C. A. last evening was by far the best I have ever listened to.

—W. T. RAWLINS: Duke Kahanamoku probably will set at least one new record at the coming carnival swimming meet. He may not set any new times, but he likely will be the first man who has ever swum in seven events on the same day, ranging from 50 yards to a mile; and we expect him to win every one of the seven races.

—MISS RUTH STACKER: I am not the claimant of the 50-yard world's record, according to the Sydney Referee Miss Durack holds that championship, having been credited with covering the distance in 30 flat.

—JAMES A. WILDER: Honolulu V is the proudest troop of Boy Scouts in the territory, as it is the possessor of a beautiful flag presented by Queen Liliuokalani. The members of the troop are to be complimented on the manner in which they conducted themselves yesterday.

—NIGEL JACKSON: I have been told that just because Santa Claus is brought into the limelight once a year is no justification for one to appear in public with face lambskins. I am almost persuaded that I will indulge in a shave.

—CAPTAIN WILLIAM FOSTER: I am glad that the numbering of the territorial wharves has been completed. The confusion heretofore existing in designating the several piers is now a thing of the past.

—RAYMOND C. BROWN: While some people can extract a lot of excitement and thrills in juggling dynamite bombs and toying with quantities of giant powder, I manage to secure considerable diversion from serving in my humble capacity in handling tickets at the various Mid-Pacific Carnival attractions.

—SENATOR J. L. COKE: As a former resident of Maui and a loyal baseball fan, I'm going to root for the

With a large list in which the cream of the Hawaiian swimming talent and six picked men from the east, entries for the carnival swimming meet closed at 5 o'clock last night. Competition from the mainland will make this meet the most interesting ever held in the islands, since swimming became a recognized competitive sport, and the chances are that the stands on the navy wharves will be packed on the morning of Saturday, the 21st.

A glance at the entries shows that Duke Kahanamoku is entered in every race for which he is eligible, including the mile, which is a new distance for the champion. REPORT SAYS ROSENFELDTS ARE AFTER DIVORCE

A whirlwind courtship and wedding in Honolulu and a quick voyage to the coast developed into even quicker proceedings for divorce on the part of Mr. and Mrs. Leo A. Rosenfeldt, according to news received here from San Francisco.

Mrs. Rosenfeldt, who was Miss Edith Leo Yeomans of Tacoma, and was visiting here as a tourist, is reported to have left for Seattle and her husband for Chicago.

The San Francisco Examiner of January 4 says:

"Mr. and Mrs. Leo A. Rosenfeldt, newlyweds, who arrived from Honolulu on the steamship Manchuria Monday and denied they had any intention of seeking a divorce, failed to take a taxi to the nearest jewelry store to purchase a new wedding ring to replace the golden circlet which the bride found lying in the waiting jaws of a greedy little rock cod in the Golden Gate."

"Instead they drove pell-mell to the office of Attorney Wilbur G. Zeigler and demanded that he immediately file action for divorce."

"How did it happen that you came here?" remarked Zeigler when he had listened to the story. "You do not know me."

"Oh, we didn't know any attorney in San Francisco, so we looked in the city directory and found your name the last in the list," explained Rosenfeldt.

"Leave Office in Disgust."

"I would like to take your case," remarked attorney, but I cannot. You say your home states are Illinois and Wisconsin, respectively, and the action will have to be brought there."

"The Honey-mooners, who were married in Honolulu after a quick-fire courtship, left in disgust."

Mrs. Rosenfeldt boarded the 8 o'clock train for Seattle and declared that as soon as she arrived there and had greeted her mother, Mrs. W. C. Yeomans, wife of the millionaire lumber king and president of the Lumber Manufacturers' Association, she would bring action to have her marriage with Rosenfeldt annulled.

Rosenfeldt has left for Chicago and he also declared that he would bring suit for divorce.

In the meantime, according to advices received from Honolulu, the Seattle lumber baron is rushing to San Francisco on the steamship Nile and hopes to get home in time to stop the divorce proceedings.

"Slight Quarrel Is Cause."

"Several of the passengers of the Manchuria declare that the young people began to quarrel through a slight misunderstanding and if the father of the bride gets to Seattle in time peace and harmony may again result."

"An interesting feature of the story is found down at Fisherman's cove, where the Italian fishermen congregate with the boats heaped with fish after the day's catch."

"According to the marine lookouts stationed there, every fish is carefully investigated by the fishermen, who hope to discover the little rascal that swallowed the ring and thereby gain possession of a talisman which will prove lucky for the owner."

At Mr. Yeomans' hotel it was said today that he is still in Honolulu.

SOLDIER BRIDEGROOM ON TRANSPORT; WINS BRIDE IN DASHING COURTSHIP

Married after a dashing courtship in San Francisco, the call of duty has taken a soldier from the side of his bride to the far-away Philippines. Second Lieutenant Edward William Austin, Philippine scout, is the soldier, and he is a passenger aboard the transport Sherman which arrived last night.

From San Francisco comes the news that Lieutenant Austin met Miss Mary Helen Assalena on Saturday, January 31 and they were married the following Monday. The bride is the daughter of E. L. Assalena of Sacramento and was a musician in San Francisco when Lieutenant Austin wooed and won her. They were married by the Rev. Charles F. Aked. Mrs. Austin is to join her husband in a few months.

JARRETT AND HOLT ARE UNDER HACKMEN'S FIRE

they have no fight to make because they had to pay the arrear taxes. Their charge is that while they were required to pay up, other drivers—drivers belonging to the favored clique—are allowed to go untouched, and are now doing business without a license but with a permit. Jack Long, a driver with a stand near the fish markets, is one they say who has been favored. He frankly admits that he has not a license, but was given a permit from Holt notwithstanding. Other drivers are said to be in the same position.

Just now a test case, testing whether such arrear taxes can be required as a condition precedent to issuing a license, is in the supreme court, taken there by 15 hackdrivers who had a writ of mandate issued to compel the treasurer to give them a license. The two lower courts have held in favor of the official.

Though the present two cliques involved in the charges, the favored and the unfavored, are not parties to the action, Jarrett said this morning that until the final decision is handed down he would not interfere with the drivers. He said that the decision would cover satisfactorily the entire situation. If it holds that the drivers must
